On April 17, Illinois Governor, Pat Quinn, issued a proclamation proclaiming “Children’s Day” in Illinois.

Just five weeks from Mother’s Day is “Children’s Day.”

It’s the second Sunday in June — June 10, 2012. Many individuals, groups, and churches, are trying to bring attention to this special day for children that predates both Mother’s and Father’s Day.

John Ross, advocate for Children’s Day and part of a growing movement spear-headed by the website www.nationalchildrensday.us, complimented the Illinois governor.

“I am again so happy that Illinois Governor Pat Quinn has once again affirmed Children’s Day on the second Sunday in June. This year it’s June 10. This will be the sixth straight year for a proclamation. I am hopeful that other state governors and local government leaders will get onboard and recognize this historic date. Children across America need this day, now more than ever.”

Children’s Day observations in the United States predate both Mother’s and Father’s Day. The day to celebrate children dates from the 1860s and earlier. The Methodist Episcopal Church at the Methodist Conference of 1868 recommended that the second Sunday in June be observed annually as Children’s Day. The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in 1883 designated the “the second Sabbath in June as Children’s Day.”.

In 2011, Illinois was joined by one of its border states, Wisconsin, to partner in proclaiming “Children’s Day” on the second Sunday in June. Also the cities of Aurora, Ill.; Batavia, Ill.; Fort Collins, Colo.; and Vancouver, Wash.; issued 2011 proclamations.

Chase’s Calendar of Events cites Children’s Sunday and notes that The Commonwealth of Massachusetts issues an annual proclamation for the second Sunday in June.

Numerous churches and denominations currently observe the second Sunday in June including the African Methodist Episcopal Church, African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, and the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church.

Community groups, churches, and individuals are encouraged to challenge state governors and local governments to proclaim the day. The website www.nationalchildrensday.us has instructions and contact information for all 50 states plus Puerto Rico.

The Children’s Day website also offers helps and also challenges parents, individuals, churches/houses of worship, schools/places of education, government/community and businesses to sign commitment cards directed at affirming America’s children. They pledge to “commit myself (ourselves), in the coming year, to love, cherish, nurture (physical, mental, emotional, & spiritual needs), and affirm...” They can also make a commitment beyond America to the world’s children.
